CHICAGO--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Novus Law, LLC, a leading global legal services firm, announced that it is the first firm to achieve an International Organization for Standardization (ISO) 9001:2008 quality management system certification based on an independent audit performed by Underwriters Laboratories, Inc. (UL), the most rigorous and prestigious certification auditor.

Auditors from UL examined the firm's quality management and control systems, called Novus Q™, and verified that the firm had upheld the quality standards flawlessly. The certification review did not find any non-compliance issues and did not suggest any changes to Novus Q™, thus achieving a rare perfect audit score under the rigorous new standard.

"We are proud to be the first legal firm to achieve this new global quality management system certification from Underwriters Laboratories since we believe that they are the leading and most rigorous independent auditing and certification agency in the world. This achievement confirms our commitment to quality and innovation, and our ability to deliver a measurably higher quality and more defensible work product to our corporate counsel and law firm clients," said Novus Law co-founder and CEO Raymond Bayley.

ISO 9001:2008 is the latest edition of the International Standard used by organizations as the global benchmark for providing assurance of an organization's ability to satisfy quality requirements and to enhance client satisfaction. Novus Law received this certification, and the previous ISO 9001:2000 certification, specifically for document management and review services in association with litigation, corporate transactions and investigations; enterprise content management; and corporate governance services for corporate legal departments and the law firms that serve them.

Novus Q™ is an integral component of the Novus Process™, the firm's comprehensive document management, review and analysis process for litigation, investigations, bankruptcies and mergers and acquisitions. In 2008, the Novus Process™ received a global InnovAction Award from the College of Law Practice Management and Novus Law was inducted into the College's hall of fame, which is the first time either distinction has been awarded to an organization other than a law firm. Using the Novus Process™, clients have reduced costs for document management, review and analysis up to 60-80%.

"The legal industry is beginning to fully embrace the reality that quality management and control systems can have an enormous impact on their bottom line. As one of the only ISO 9001:2008 certified legal services firm in the world, Novus Law is uniquely positioned to address that reality," said Bayley.

Raymond Bayley is available to speak with the media about Novus Law's ISO 9001:2008 certification and how the firm provides cutting-edge quality management and control systems at reduced costs for corporate counsel and law firms.
